18 Months, Four Conferences, One Stronger Private Practice Network

DE NEWS

The Indian Speech, Language and Hearing Association (ISHA) has successfully organised our national Connect & Collaborate for Private Practitioners conferences in just 18 months, promoting ethical practice, continuing education and professional networking among Audiologists and Speech-Language Pathologists across India. The initiative is led by Dr. Ram P. Kumar, Director of Ramo Clinic, Dwarka, as Chairperson - Private Practitioners, under the leadership of ISHA President Dr. Sanjay Munjal and the ISHA Executive Council.

The conferences were held in Ahmedabad (76 participants), Bengaluru (68), Lucknow (148) the largest gathering, and Tirupati (73 participants) from Andhra Pradesh, Karnataka, Kerala and neighbouring states.

The Tirupati conference focused on ethical private practice, clinical excellence, research, innovation and interdisciplinary collaboration.

In his inaugural address, Dr. Ram P. Kumar highlighted ISHA's vision of empowering private practitioners through continuous learning, leadership and quality patient care. Experts conducted sessions on evidence-based clinical practice, vestibular rehabilitation, tinnitus management, cochlear implant rehabilitation, clinical documentation and multidisciplinary healthcare. Industry partners also showcased the latest rehabilitation technologies.

The conference concluded with the felicitation of Dr. Ram P. Kumar by the ISHA Andhra Pradesh chapter for his leadership in strengthening private practice nationwide.

With four successful conferences completed in just 18 months, the ISHA initiative has emerged as a significant national platform for advancing professional excellence and improving hearing and communication rehabilitation services across India.
